

Council Fire

Being a private club, our members expect our greens to have a good consistent speed. In the past, to achieve this goal, I would keep the turf very lean by cutting back on fertility. Not only was I sacrificing color and health of the turf, I found that ballmarks were not recovering in a timely manner. So I started looking for a liquid fertilizer that would give me good color, healthier turf and a consistent growth pattern without a rapid vertical growth, as well as being compatible with my fungicide, insecticide and growth regulators. I found this in Daniels Turf 10-3-5. This product has met all my needs.
